

Christopher Gasson
Publisher and Managing Director
Global Water Intelligence

Profile

Christopher Gasson has been Publisher and Managing Director of Global Water Intelligence since acquiring the business in 2002. Over that time he has built the publication into the leading authority of water finance and markets, and expanded the business to encompass Water Desalination Report, DesalData, Ultrapure Water Journal, the Produced Water Society, and a series of in depth market reports. In addition to his role at Global Water Intelligence he is a partner in Amane Advisers (a consulting firm specialising in advising on the water business) and non-executive chairman of the Global Water Leaders Group (a not-for-profit organisation bringing together the CEOs of water utilities around the world).
