

Dr. Giuliana D'Imprezano – Milano University, Italy

Giuliana is a soil chemistry professor in Agriculture Faculty of the Università degli Studi di Milano. She is Head of Laboratorio Biomasse e Agroenergie of Ricicla labs in Lodi. She works on research issues relating to energy production from biomasses and wastes, waste management, soil quality, slurry management and environmental impacts, new fuel and third generation biomass for bioenergy. She works as process and rules consultant in anaerobic digestion plants (biogas), composting plants and waste biostabilization plants. She is author of 20 scientific papers published on international scientific journals.