

Hagai Stadler

Grovepoint Capital

UK

Hagai Stadler is a member of Grovepoint Capital's principal investment team, with a focus on Israel. Grovepoint is London-based investment firm with significant assets under management. Hagai has led Grovepoint's investment in Algatech, a leading international company in the biotechnology micro-algae industry, located in Ketura Israel, and served as CEO of the company for two years.

Prior to joining Grovepoint, Hagai was the executive assistant to the CEO of Mekorot, Israel's national water company. At Mekorot, Hagai was responsible for and led teams in corporate strategy, performance measurement and business planning. Before joining Mekorot, Hagai was a commercial lawyer at Lipa Meir and Co. focusing on turnarounds and project finance. Prior to that Hagai interned at the Supreme Court of Israel.

Hagai holds an MBA and an LLB, both from the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, as well as a BA in Economics and Logistics from Bar-Ilan University, all awarded with distinction.