

Ludwig Goris

Ludwig Goris completed his PhD in Physics at Hasselt University in 2006, focusing on organic solar cells research, after having obtained a Master in Chemistry at Ghent University. He then took on a position as a post-doctoral scholar at Stanford University. In 2009 he rejoined Hasselt University to develop new thin film diamond applications. In parallel he was actively involved in technology transfer from lab to start-up company. In 2010 he became an independent advisor to the Cleantech Investment Practice of Capricorn Venture Partners, which he joined in 2011 as full-time Investment Associate. Ludwig has obtained an Executive Master's degree in Corporate Finance at Vlerick Business School. In 2013 he took on the role Investment Manager responsible for Capricorn's future Cleantech investment strategy, opportunity due diligence and investment portfolio follow-up. He has a particular interest in agricultural & feedstock technologies novel & bio-based chemistry, water purification, industrial biotech and advanced materials.

Capricorn Venture Partners

Capricorn Venture Partners is an independent European manager of venture capital and equity funds, investing in innovative companies with technology as competitive advantage. Capricorn's dedicated investment teams are composed of experienced investment managers with deep technology expertise and a broad industrial experience. Capricorn Venture Partners is investing out of its Capricorn Cleantech Fund, its Capricorn Health-tech Fund and its Capricorn ICT Arkiv Fund. Capricorn Venture Partners is also the asset manager of Quest for Growth, quoted on EuroNext Brussels, and is investment manager to the Quest Cleantech Fund.