

Danielle has dedicated her career in Israel to leveraging Israeli expertise and innovation for global development. Today, Danielle is the Founder and Executive Director of Volcani International Partnerships (VIP), an Israeli NGO tackling global food and nutrition insecurity with Israel's agricultural experience, expertise and innovation.

In the days following Oct 7th, Danielle led the establishment of ReGrow Israel to rebuild the farming communities devastated by the attacks.

A renowned advocate for addressing global food insecurity with Israeli agricultural expertise, Danielle is a sought-after speaker at prestigious global conferences including Harvard University, the World Food Prize, and the Milken Conference.

Danielle started her career in Israel as a senior policy advisor in MASHAV - Israel's agency for International Development Cooperation - representing Israel as a guest speaker at the UN, OECD and German Development Bank. Danielle holds a B.A. and an M.A. from the University of Oxford and lives in Tel Aviv with her family.
