

Nir Assulin has a Master degree from the Hebrew University in environmental sciences and water treatment.

Specializes in process engineering, project engineering and technological development at the Bluegen/Aqwise company with more than 20 years of experience on this filed.